priety of finding fault with anything in the shape of legislation which the Sacretary of State prescribes for the Colony. He pointed to the Sunday Labour Bill as furnishing what he called a good illustration of the advantages which a Colony deriver from the existence of a Secretary of State to superintend its affairs and direct its legislation; and said that such a bill or any bill with even so limited a beneficial effect as this? would never be passed if the matter were left to the gentlemen who represent the community in Council. The very natural desire of the unofficial members to have the sbeard title originally given to the Bill-I The Lord's Day Observance Ordinance'altered was taken by Mr Bonser as indicating a strong though hidden aversion to the bill itself rather than as showing any delicacy of feeling consequent on a desire to spare the feelings of their non-Christian fellowsubjects. Mr Bonser then, having apparently worked himself into a fine frenzy of official enthusiasm, held forth as follows :- It may be said that the Goods per Laju undelivered after this Secretary of State is dictating to the wishes of the representatives of this Oc-A.
